SUSTAINABLE INVESTMENT POLICY

Short institutional template for website publication or policy annex

Policy statement. Khalel Dosmukhamedov Atyrau University seeks to ensure that investment-related decisions, reserve placements, endowment management, and other financial arrangements are carried out in a responsible manner that supports long-term environmental, social, and governance objectives.

Scope

- Applies to investment policy, treasury placements, endowment or reserve funds, banking relationships, and other institutional financial decisions, where applicable.
- May be implemented proportionately, taking into account legal restrictions, fiduciary duties, market conditions, risk profile, and the scale of available funds.

Principles

- Preference should be given, where feasible, to investments and financial partners demonstrating sound environmental, social, governance, ethics, and compliance practices.
- The institution may avoid or limit exposure to activities that materially conflict with its sustainability commitments, applicable law, human rights standards, or anti-corruption principles.
- Financial decisions should consider long-term resilience, transparency, risk management, and responsible stewardship of institutional resources.

Implementation and review

- Relevant administrative units may integrate sustainability criteria into internal review, approval, and monitoring procedures for investment-related decisions.
- This policy should be reviewed periodically and updated when institutional strategy, regulation, or governance requirements change.
